

VERMEERSEK MUST GO TO TRIAL

Arbuckle Jury Fighting Over Verdict

Belgian Is Held for Early Trial on Murder Charge

Vermeersek Must Stand Trial in Circuit Court, Judge Maxfield Rules at Close of Hearing—Buggs Gives Strong Testimony for State.

Henry Vermeersek must stand trial in the Rock county circuit court on the complaint charging first degree murder, the slaying of Mrs. Christanna Brickson on the night of November 11.

As soon as the state had presented evidence in the preliminary hearing held before Judge H. L. Maxfield on Friday and the defense refused to put on witnesses, Judge Maxfield held that there was sufficient evidence to warrant the holding of Vermeersek, the little Belgian, on the state's charge. The ruling was made at 3:50 p. m. Records of the case thus far in the municipal court will be compiled and sent to the circuit court. The circuit court jury can be called at any time by Judge Maxfield, so an early trial date is expected by circuit court officials.

Buggs Is Material Witness. "I am positive that he is the man who cashed the check in my office," this statement made by Paul Buggs, the state's operator, was evidence that the state brought out strongly to convince the court there was reasonable grounds to hold Vermeersek for trial. The testimony of Buggs was the most material given during the hearing, and with one exception was the only time the state put on a witness, who was positive of identifying Vermeersek.

This is the first positive statement under oath that Vermeersek is the man alleged to have been in Janesville Friday night, the night of the slaying. Vermeersek, who was charged with the slaying of Mrs. Brickson, was taken from the woman after she was shot down near her home on the country club road. "There was nothing uncertain about the testimony of Buggs. Even during the cross-examination he refused to waver a bit that he was 'positive' the defendant is the man," regarding the facial features and general appearance the witness was steadfast in that he was not mistaken.

On the stand Mr. Buggs told in detail how a man he identifies as Vermeersek came to the station at about 11:25 o'clock Friday night. There are two powerful lights in the little taxi office, he said.

Inspected Him Carefully. "When he asked me to cash a check, I took a good look at him. It was a matter of money with me and I had reason to make a careful inspection of his face," he said. "I looked at the check and saw it was $5 for the trip."

"He then wanted to know if I could cash a check. Right then and there I took a look at him. I looked at the check and saw it was $5 for the trip."

Oh, Boy! More Chickens
Peter Morik, Janesville rural routes, had some pullets for sale. Wondering how to dispose of them, Mr. Morik suddenly hit upon a plan which he thought would "pull it."

Calling the Gazette he asked for the classified department and ordered an ad inserted. Now Mr. Morik, like other persons who have used the classified columns, knew full well what could be expected and he was not in the slightest disappointed. In speaking of the ad and the results gained he said, "I ordered the ad for two nights but sold the pullets the first night. I could have sold lots more had I had them."

Mr. Morik is one of those gentlemen who remembered that the classified department and this was a case where memory paid in good old cash.

WILL ORGANIZE TO APPLY PRINCIPLES OF DISARM MEET

EASTERN COUNCIL OF NATIONS OBJECTIVE OF DELEGATES MAY NULL PACT Graceful Abrogation of Anglo-Jap Alliance Seen as Result.

By DAVID LAWRENCE. Copyright 1921, by Janesville Gazette.

Washington.—An eastern council of nations now appears as the objective of the governments gathered here to discuss Far Eastern questions. The same line powers who are trying to establish a set of principles to guide each other in their commercial, financial and political relations with respect to the Pacific will be ultimately grouped in an organization to see to it that the principles adopted at Washington are fairly applied.

The United States government in its original invitation to the conference, declared to include all nations which might possibly have interests in the Far East with the exception of Russia. When the Russians get a stable government, they, too, would be invited to join.

In other words, this development of an association of nine or ten nations for a precise object—the transmutation of the Far East—has been in line with President Harding's theory that international conference can bring about cooperation not merely for the moment, when the problems are laid on the table, but subsequently when disputes arise as to the meaning or interpretation of principles.

Most Have Regional Understandings. Mr. Harding's idea is that world peace can be materially assisted by regional understandings as well as by periodic conference of all nations. He summed the advantages of participating in the limitation of naval armament because they alone seemed to be the factors in such a problem. Similarly the nine powers called the conference the only one to whom the Far Eastern settlement was vital. In the same sense Mr. Harding has taken occasion to refer to the organization created by the Versailles treaty as the "League of Nations."

The president has let it be known that he believes the league should abide because it has a definite value for Europe. Probably if he were asked to define his attitude toward central and South America he would say that the Monroe doctrine and the Pan American union are the last generation had developed an association.

CALL FOR MEN IN PACKERS' STRIKE

Armour Employees Who Walk Out Monday to Lose Places.

Chicago.—Coinciding with an order from Armour and company, the "big five" packers, who all employees who walk out Monday in protest against the 10 per cent wage reduction will lose their places, advertisements appeared in the papers Saturday, calling for men to fill the vacancies, if the union men strike.

The situation in Kansas City, Kan., where representatives of the union met Saturday afternoon before the Kansas industrial court, was brought to the attention of international officials of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America Saturday and it was said Kansas men asked permission for a walkout Saturday to avoid appearance before the industrial court.

Officers of the "big five" packers have made plain their intention to continue operations and declared they do not fear a walkout on a large scale. Union leaders say the "big five" men in the plants of the "big five," distributed throughout 35 cities.

Four of the large packers have adopted the shop representation on shift systems in their plants and it was the Armour shop committee which Friday night issued the warning that strikers would lose their places.

More than 75 per cent of the elected employees, representatives of all plants, said an official announced, voted either favorably upon the reduction of wages or to leave the matter of the management.

Mme. de With, wife of the Dutch ambassador, is the most beautiful woman in the family circles of the arms delegates. A charming personality also makes Mme. de With one of the most popular members of the party circles.

Powers to Quit China Territory?

Washington.—Another important point in the Far Eastern discussions of the armament conference was won Saturday by China in the committee of the nine powers, Great Britain, Japan and France agreeing to retire from much of the leased territory of China.

Japanese representatives, it was said, agreed to give up their leased territorial holdings in Shantung and also were reported as offering to discuss retirement from their special territorial privileges in Manchuria.

The offers from Great Britain, Japan and France were said to be contingent on fulfillment of conditions which China was expected to meet. M. Viviani, French representative, expressed willingness to retire from Kwangchow, Wai, the French leased territory. British spokesmen, it was said, followed with a proffer to give up the British leased territory at Wei Hai Wei.

The people of Janesville and vicinity should not forget that the presentation of the oratorio "Messiah" is a community affair. It is not a private matter and singers are wanted for the chorus. DELEGATES AWAIT MOVE FROM TOKIO ON NAVAL RATIO

NEGOTIATIONS ARE AT STANDSTILL FOR FEW HOURS.

5-5-3 TO STAND Other Considerations Believed Base of Discussion; Settlement Seen.

Washington.—Negotiations in the naval ratio question were practically at a standstill Saturday, while the Japanese delegates awaited further word from Tokio.

Saturday the result of Friday's conference between the principal American, British and Japanese delegates was under study by the Japanese cabinet and the diplomatic advisory council.

All indications were that whatever had been proposed as a means of bringing the United States and Japan together did not involve any abandonment of the 5-5-3 ratio proposed by the United States and supported by Great Britain, but rather concerned the Japanese regard as necessary to them.

Fortifications, Issue. Chief among these was understood to be the question of further fortification of the American bases in the Pacific, which the Japanese wish to see checked. The relation of fortified bases is such to fleet ratio that there was a suggestion the Japanese might regard the 5-5-3 proposal as not inconsistent with their standard of national security.

There was a decided impression among other delegates, not represented in Friday's conference of the "big three" that a means of "approach to a settlement" had been found outside of any alteration of the 5-5-3 ratio.

In general discussion, which had been aroused by the seerage which surrounds the latest stage of the negotiations, a number of questions are being mentioned as among those which might accompany the agreement.

Substitute for Pact? One of the general feeling that the Anglo-Japanese alliance is being dealt with and that there soon will appear a plan, approved by both Great Britain and Japan, to abandon that much discussed agreement and substitute it with some other sort of agreement to which the United States might be a party.

One suggestion is for a sort of arbitration treaties between the three powers with a provision that Japan would not be involved in a war without six months or a year's notice, another consideration being discussed involved Japan's position in China.

The general feeling among delegates is that concessions to Japan, if they may be properly so termed, may be made, which will cause her to accept the 5-5-3 intact.

Baby Dies as Parents Take Marriage Vow

Milwaukee.—The death of their four-year-old child, Billie, added to the troubles of Dr. Vernon Rounseville, 29, dentist, and Rose Immel, 24, who were married Saturday by Judge Cummings in civil court, under special dispensation.

Rounseville was under arrest on serious charges and was held in county jail on failure to give bond. The couple had lived together several years without a formal marriage ceremony and recently separated.

Judge Cummings, after a solemn ceremony, the couple were allowed to be married legally. Following the ceremony they went at once to the home where the baby was kept.

CONSCIENCE TOO STRONG; BURGLAR RETURNS BOOTY

MILWAUKEE.—The central police station Saturday houses a conscientious burglar in James Kane, 22, of Kenosha, formerly an employee of Gilles Meisenheimer, former Canadian army aviator. Kane Friday night visited Meisenheimer's home and confessed that he had burglarized the Meisenheimer home here about a month ago.

The aviator had reported to the police the loss of several guns and relics. Kane admitted taking them to Kenosha, where he sold and pawned them, to get money with which to get married. Detectives were called in and heard Kane's confession, after which they went to Kenosha and recovered all of the relics.

Meisenheimer said he would not prosecute Kane who is expected to be released. He told Meisenheimer that his conscience bothered him and prompted him to confess his wrong doing.

ROCK COUNTY COW WINS SWEEPSTAKE

Traynor Family Wins Grand Championship With Queens-ton Belle.

The grand championship ribbons for milking Shorthorns goes to Rock county.

On Queens-ton Belle, coming five years, owned by the Traynor farm near Koshkong, Rock county, secured another notable triumph with her blooded cattle in the classic beef competition of the world.

The award was announced Friday night when the sweepstakes were decided. The cow won in the five year old class and the prize was placed in the grand championship competition.

This cow went into the saw-dust arena before the judges worth hundreds and came out with the grand championship title to be worth thousands.

In addition Marquette brothers, Milton Junction, won third prize on their senior Shorthorn bull, Earl Grove Duke.

Animals from the Robinson farm, near Evansville, won prizes in the hereof competition. The young stock from this farm lacked the excess fat to show for the grand championship for the winners refused to force bulk on the fatteners just for the show as excess fat ruins a young animal, except for the butcher block.

"All people from Southern Wisconsin who attended the Chicago International exposition, the prize was an 'education'." The greatest bunch of beef cattle, swine and sheep I ever saw," remarks C. E. Culver. "There was no limit to the number or the quality. Only an experienced stock man could get a ribbon in any class."

San Francisco.—Nothing remained of the Roscoe Arbuckle manslaughter trial Saturday, but a verdict, and it that was adverse to him, a sentence. The fate of the comedian, accused of having caused the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, motion picture actress, was given to the jury shortly after 12 o'clock. It failed to reach a verdict in six and 1/2 hours of actual deliberations. The jury retired at 4:15 p. m. last night.

The jury returned to the jury room from its hotel at 10 a. m. Saturday. Members appeared re-frused after a night's rest. Reports that it was divided 11 to 1 for acquittal persisted Saturday, but there was nothing to give complete victory to either side. Coroner's office said one woman was holding out for conviction.

Arbuckle appeared a few minutes before 10, wearing a thick black overcoat. He did not have the bag-gard look he carried away with him Friday night. He chatted with newspapermen and others in an apparently carefree manner.

THE KIWANIS OF JANSVILLE.

(Written by Oscar Nelson; set to music by Stewart Richards).
KIWANIS, KIWANIS—soldiers of service are we.
We want to show our city just how useful we can be.
We will gladly tackle any job and surpass our fellow citizens.
"WE BOLD" is our motto, which we practice religiously.

Janesville needs Kiwanis like Parizer needs his pen.
Like Weber needs his overalls and like Garner needs his underwear and we need a hotel, when Times get back to normal and Samson calls for men.

KIWANIS, KIWANIS—seventy strong are we.
Janesville never needs to fear about our loyalty.
We'll join hands with our brother,
whose name is Rotary.
To fight and work for Janesville and do it cheerfully.

Yes, Janesville needs Kiwanis, we are sure of that.
Like Jake Stearns needs the Twilight,
Tom Howe his cotton bat,
Like Tommen needs his tractor and Newman needs his gat.
Yes, Janesville needs Kiwanis—Tom
Wolsa will swear to that.

MAY SERVE MILK AT BADGER FAIR

Walworth County Body Is Invited to Put on Sale of Beverage.

[Special to the Gazette] Elkhorn—President James Murphy of the Walworth County Farm Bureau, in his address to the delegates of the Walworth county federation of clubs at Elkhorn, last night, had been invited by the management of the Wisconsin state fair to put on sale milk as a beverage at next year's fair.

Field Secretary Foster made such a success of his milk booths at the Walworth county fair that the idea is spreading rapidly, as are also his ideas and plans for milk in various places similar to and copied directly after the Walworth county event have taken place in 13 states and over 30 counties, and this within eight months after the Walworth county milk week. Seven counties are carrying forward the work at the present time, following directions of Mr. Foster. By comparing statistics gathered before the milk campaign and others gathered recently, it is found there are $3,000 more dairy products consumed every week than formerly. Other statistics turned in by various school authorities show that school children, almost without exception are using milk as a beverage where formerly a small number used it. Mr. Murphy's address was organized in a number of his organization had accomplished during the year.

Halt Stock Sale
Through the efforts of Field Secretary Foster, President James Murphy of America was prevented from disposing of its stock in this county.

A mineral mixture, which has sold a mineral mixture composed of various salts, intended for use in the farm bureau. This company asked for no cash but required a "trade acceptance." These salts of copper proved nothing more or less than a note and were sold to an Illinois bank which tried to force collection. These farmers appealed to the farm bureau saying they believed the mineral mixture of poor quality and not as represented. The field secretary learned, through Attorney General Morgan, that the company had violated the law by not obtaining a license in this state and is liable to a fine of between $100 and $200. The amount involved in this controversy is about $3,000.

Advising in England
The farm bureau here has assisted its members in the cooperative buying of seeds and binder twine. Many individual farmers have had their date that the bureau has helped them collect.

The speaker mentioned the agricultural bloc in congress which has been so successful in its work of passing legislation favorable to agricultural interests. This organization is favorable to agriculture was the work of the American farm bureau and in this state this same organization led the successful fight against milked milk, he said.

Mr. Murphy completed his address by saying "the only members who criticize the organization are those who have not made use of the farm bureau service. If you bought a new cultivator and placed it in your barn you would not find fault with the cultivator for not working. If you would blame yourself for not using it," he concluded.

VERMEERSEK IS HELD FOR TRIAL ON CHARGE OF MURDER

once it was a labor check from the sugar beet company. I carefully examined the face of the check and then held the check out to look at the endorsement. N. D. Erickson, I did not know Erickson, so I asked this man to sign his name on a slip of paper. He did so and I compared and there was no doubt in my mind, he was the man who wrote on the back of the check.

The witness went into further detail with the description that he furnished the police later. He was questioned on an extensive examination on details, such as facial characteristics, clothes, color, complexion and nationality of the suspect who rode from Janesville to Beloit, leaving this city about 11:30 p.m. Friday night.

"When you went to Beloit the following Sunday to identify the prisoner there—was there some doubt in your mind then?" questioned Attorney G. McWilliams.

"No sir, there was no doubt; then—nor is there now," declared Buggs with emphasis. "I am sure he is the man and always have been."

The witness refused to be trapped into answering details about his clothes.

"You thought he was Polish, didn't you?"

"I knew he was not an American born citizen and noticed that he was stooped or round shouldered, he looked underdressed or ill," answered the witness. "He resembled some Polish people that I know."

In no manner or by no method could Attorney McWilliams shake Buggs in his positive statements.

The importance of this testimony is undisputed for the defense will claim an alibi. There are South Beloit Belgians who declare Vermeersek was not out of the De Groen house after seven o'clock Friday night, when the defendant is alleged to have gone to sleep in the basement of the house.

Can He Write?
Testimony on the allegations that Vermeersek wrote his name on a slip of paper in the taxi-office is a paramount point. It is claimed that Vermeersek cannot write his own name let alone that of another person.

All witnesses during the hearing had trouble in agreeing on the descriptions of the man they saw either the day of murder, or after attempt was made to identify him made by the authorities either in the Beloit jail or in the county jail here.

Defense Scores Point
The defense scores one point running out of gas is a joke if you read "gas buggies" daily

One of the latest photographs of Miss Mariam West, daughter of Allen B. West, agricultural teacher in the high school, was taken in Germany, where she went to Russia as a member of the American Relief administration. Miss West is the first American woman to enter Russia for this work under American Relief administration auspices.

The picture was taken in May, 1921 at Kassel, Prussia at a birthday celebration for the anniversary of the opening of the mothers' feeding place. Miss West is on the left and Miss Irma West, (on right) holding the flowers which were presented to Miss West by the mothers on this occasion. One bouquet was of Easter lilies and the other of forget-me-nots.

when it developed that the dark colored, striped macinaw worn by Vermeersek, was without a buckle, rather being a belt with a common button.

Mrs. Bertha Cook and John Prox, taxi driver, both testified that there was a buckle on the macinaw. The coat was exhibited without a buckle, much to the astonishment of the spectators.

Prox was also positive in his identification. He was subjected to a lengthy cross-examination during which numerous questions were asked him to describe the man he drove to Beloit, to let out near the Central Hotel, to describe the coat, to describe the coat, was not exact in his sworn description.

This witness took the man, he alleged is the defendant Vermeersek, to the White Star taxi station to Beloit and had two other youths with him, whom he picked up near Monterey for "company on the ride back."

Stranger Was Quiet.
"I noticed that the man was quiet—but I didn't pay much attention to him after he got out of the office."

Prox reiterated details of the cashing of the check and signing of the slip of paper as given by his employer Buggs.

When cross-examined Prox was asked to tell the color of the suspect's eyes, his hair, complexion, the color of clothes, the size of the macinaw collar and the depth of his pockets.

"I don't know how deep the pockets were, I didn't measure them," replied the witness to the mirth of the crowd.

Under Sheriff Fred Boley took the stand just long enough to tell of the three .32 bullets found on Vermeersek when he was arrested and of the 32 revolver and cartridge belt found on the body of the man.

All of these articles were introduced and received in evidence.

Walter Lovelace, Beloit policeman who arrested Vermeersek, told of making the visit to the De Groen home in South Beloit and bringing the Belgian to the Beloit police station.

Vermeersek offered no resistance, merely saying "he hadn't done anything." Lovelace admitted on cross-examination. He also told of the cartridges found in Vermeersek's pockets.

The state rested its case at the conclusion of Mr. Boley's testimony and the defense also rested without putting on a witness. Judge Maxwell then immediately ruled that Vermeersek be held for trial in circuit court without bail.

A new stock of Prayer Books, Rosary Beads, and other religious articles on sale at St. Joseph's Convent.

WILL ORGANIZE TO APPLY PRINCIPLE TO DISARM MEET

One of the nations of the Western Hemisphere.

But the greatest thing that may develop out of the eastern council of nations is the formation of a new alliance, the formation of the Anglo-Japanese alliance. The statement of the Japanese opposition leader that the Anglo-Japanese alliance should be broadened to include the United States is similar to the utterances of Prime Minister Lloyd George, who has been urging a special agreement of Japan, United States and the British Empire.

So the logical development which will come at the psychological moment is a grouping of nations in an eastern council. The compact uniting these would automatically nullify all previous agreements which might be inconsistent with it. Such an agreement would be the Anglo-Japanese alliance and while the world's notice is required to abrogate the alliance, it could be terminated immediately if Japan and Great Britain mutually agreed to disavow the twelve months' pact.

Difficulties on that score are not anticipated if a satisfactory understanding or convention is drawn up by the nine powers gathered here.

There already has been one significant indication that the nine powers were working toward this objective. It was the appointment of a commission to study the question of giving up extra-territorial rights. All powers have agreed to the principle of abandoning those rights in the commission must determine exactly when the Chinese judicial authorities are competent to judge foreigners and their disputes. The commission is composed of representatives of each of the governing nations in session here but the commission will have to report to a larger body—probably the eastern council of nations. Other intricate problems that cannot possibly be settled at Washington and require further study and examination will be left to commissions which in turn would report to a conference of powers.

Chinese Are Eager
The Chinese themselves are eager for such a permanent conference to be established and the proposal has been given favorable consideration on every side. Already its value has been apparent even in adjusting matters of direct concern to two powers such as the Shantung dispute. While it is true that China and Japan are conducting the negotiations, the fact is the United States and Great Britain are keeping an eye on the negotiations ready to lend a hand and propose compromises at the proper moment. The affairs of the Far East have always been considered a matter for common action by the great powers but heretofore the existence of the Anglo-Japanese alliance has impeded international cooperation along broad lines for it has associated two of the powers so closely together as to make it difficult for the others to bring about concerted action. The eastern council would abolish alliances altogether in the Pacific.

"TOO WISE WIVES"

A Paramount Picture

A LOIS WEBER Production

SATURDAY AND SUNDAY Picture for Women Big Double Bill

"Too Wise Wives" was written by Lois Weber for a Purpose

The photoplay "Too Wise Wives" was written and produced by a woman for women. However, it will be of interest to husbands, especially those whose highest domestic ambition is to be left alone. It will interest wives, who spend time unsuccessfully trying to please their husbands and do not know why they fail.

It will explain why some women sigh with relief when their husbands go to the office in the morning. It is the story of a wife who was unfaithful to her husband in thought, but who drew back from the border line of wrong. It shows why the best wives are sometimes the most misunderstood.

Most women "love" gorgeous rooms, luxurious motor cars, palatial houses with rare tapestries and furnishings, and in the latest Lois Weber production every effort has been made to stage this drama of love with the most superb appointments.

JUDGE GRIMM WILL FIX DATE OF TRIAL

Murder Case May Come Up
This Month—State to Ask
Special Counsel.

Judge George Grimm will be in Janesville Monday to confer with District Attorney S. C. Dunwiddie and J. G. McWilliams for setting a date to try Henry Vermeersack in the circuit court here on the charge of murder. Records of the case are expected to be filed from the municipal court to the circuit court early next week.

The circuit jury can be called in by the judge, unless the case is tried this month, it will have to be put over until the March term. This would necessitate Vermeersack remaining in jail until next spring, when the case would be tried.

With so much prohibition work and trial, it cannot devote full time to preparing the murder case for trial, stated Attorney Dunwiddie Saturday. "I hope the court will appoint an attorney to help in the preparation of the state's evidence."

The case of H. A. Von Owen, Beiloi bank against H. W. Adams and W. S. Perrigo will be heard this morning in the circuit court. This litigation is over a promissory note given by the defendant to the plaintiff and endorsed by Mr. Perrigo.

Screen and Stage

When Catherine Calvert was making pictures for Paramount she was better known to theatergoers than to film fans. Today, however, since she has returned to the stage she is perhaps better known to the theater devotees. Miss Calvert has many claims to fame. She was brought into prominence by her playwright husband, the late Paul Armstrong. While on the stage she

When she entered the picture world she was said to look enough like Clara Kimbrell Young to be her sister. Now that she has returned to the stage to play the leading feminine role of Donna Sol, opposite Orlin Skinner in "Blood and Sand," she is said to have the most beautiful back on the American stage.

The Gazette went into second place in the Industrial League bowling league Friday night by defeating the American Express three straight, one game by 10 pins. The Express dropped into fourth when the Samson Tractors took two from the Gazette, losing the other by 16 pins of wood. The Woolen Mills retained first by being idle because of a postponed game with the Parker Pen.

Special arrangements will be given by the police for handling the great crowd expected. The keen rivalry of the battle has spread rapidly throughout the Southern States and people from every neighboring town will point their motor cars toward Jansville.

Beloit is hungry. Beloit has not seen the Fairies play for more than a month. They are expected to arrive with a crowd of 100 spectators.

Indians Astonished by Defeat by Buggs, 16-15

The most surprised group of athletes ever to depart from Jansville were the Indian Aces of Plymouth. Coming here with the intention of merely filling in an off night while on a tour of the state, these full-blooded Indians were knocked out of their stride by the speedy R. F. Buggs of this city. They left town with the shot end of 16 to 15 score dangling from their belts.

Stepping upon the floor of the Coliseum rink, these "original" Americans started the game with an apparent feeling that the lightness and less experience of the local lads would be an easy scalp for them. Against this they met a fighting bunch of youngsters who took an early lead and kept it.

Snappy from the start, a whale of a game, the crowd of 270 fans were kept constantly upon edge, rooting for the Indians ahead, 5 to 2. The Indians used a beautiful short passing and pivot game, plus speedy dribbling, but the five-man defense of the Jansville boys broke into their plans.

Whether it was because they have been playing every night this week or not, the Indians had no basket-cres. It was strange because Stofes and Le Roy were found for their ability to dump the ball through the hoop.

The first half saw plenty of basket shooting but few successful goals. It ended after a terrific battle with the Indians ahead, 5 to 2. The Indians used a beautiful short passing and pivot game, plus speedy dribbling, but the five-man defense of the Jansville boys broke into their plans.

Coming back to the battle after the intermission, the Plymouth Aces let go a furious onslaught. The game roughened with most of the fouls being called in the final seconds. The Indians' defense was not able to stop the Aces from scoring.

The selection of an All-American football team this year presents a complex situation that never has occurred before. In years gone by the west was wrongly classed as producing a superior grade of football, generally to that of the eastern states. The west, whose work attracted prominence in the stories of the games, were given places on these All-American teams.

This year the west unquestionably produced a better grade of football generally than did the east. The western players displayed more attacking power, as resourceful an attack, as good defensive play, and much more constant playing on the part of teams and individuals.

Westerners' predominance. To say that western players displayed a majority of places, therefore, on this mythical team to represent the American colleges. I believe "Whoops" Stively of Princeton and Dick Miller of the University of California are the greatest ends in the game today. Stively's Cornell approaches the nearest to their class. He might well replace either of them with little damage to the team. Myers of O. S. U. would rank fourth.

I would rank fourth. Hanson of Cornell and Gullick of Syracuse at the tackles form a pair that not only are powers on defense but played an important part in the offensive work of their eleven. Hanson led the east in kicking goals, his total reaching around 40. Gullick's punting and his work in interference on the attack were outstanding features of his team.

The west has the call on the guard position with Durne of Michigan, and Poley, O. S. U., giant, coached there. These two with Wallace of Iowa State as center and the two enders at the tackle would give the team an impenetrable line and one that would

Indians Astonished by Defeat by Buggs, 16-15

The most surprised group of athletes ever to depart from Jansville were the Indian Aces of Plymouth. Coming here with the intention of merely filling in an off night while on a tour of the state, these full-blooded Indians were knocked out of their stride by the speedy R. F. Buggs of this city. They left town with the shot end of 16 to 15 score dangling from their belts.

Bust Five Man Pin Mark Again

Des Moines, Ia.—R. Gable of Des Moines, went into the lead in all events section of the Mid-West Bowling tournament here Friday, when he shot 191, breaking the association record, which was set five days ago by F. Frost of Fort Dodge, Ia. Frost's score was 190.

Gable shot a score of 676 in the singles, which put him into seventh position. He had put in his last game. Scores of the leading five men in the five man doubles and singles are still unchanged. All events:

CADDOCK BEST'S STANGLED IN WRESTLING MATCH

Iowa Falls, Ia.—Earl Caddock, former heavyweight wrestling champion, was awarded a decision over Joe Stangl of Carroll Friday night, when after 28 minutes of wrestling Caddock picked up his less experienced adversary and threw him to the mat with such violence that he was unable to continue the match.

From the wealth of wonderful back men produced this year one could well choose four or five sets of backs that would hold their own against any opposition.

For halfback possibilities we have, besides Aldrich of Yale and Litching of Penn State. Currier and Gilroy of Princeton. Kay of Cornell.

Alvin Elliott of Wisconsin. Alvin Elliott of Wisconsin. Stuart of O. S. U. Mohr of Notre Dame.

Alvin's versatility, including his booting ability, as well as his generalship, gives him the call at one half. Lightner of Penn State, I believe, ranks ahead of even the great Mohr, Currier or Gilroy, both stars of their teams.

Locke of Iowa stands out above all the eastern fullbacks. Had Owen of Harvard played the major portion of the season at full I believe he would have made a bid for the post. Owen ranks as one of the best all-around players of the season.

$40,000 a Year Paid Here for Two Guard Companies by the State Government

Janesville has a growing concern with equipment worth $251,000. This organization has a payroll of $40,000 annually. It employs 200 men—every one of them young. Not a cent of the money for that equipment, nor a penny for the pay of those men, came directly out of the pockets of the citizens of this city. It comes out of the state treasury. Of the men, 180 work only one night a week and one hour a night.

That concern is the national guard. It is to be organized for $2,700 which they gave to keep the organization in Janesville that the National Guard is giving "The Jollies of 1921" at the Myers Theatre Thursday and Friday nights.

Cavalry and Tanks.

The units are headquarters troop, 53rd cavalry brigade, and "I" company, tank corps. The property of the tanks corps is valued at $150,000, that of the cavalry at $101,000.

All of the $42,000 payroll is paid by the federal government and stays here. A brief resume of where this money goes, is given herewith.

First, the headquarters of the 53rd cavalry brigade was organized and mustered in on June 23, 1920 with 51 men and three officers. Capt. L. O. Cheronnier, who had had cavalry experience, was the one who took the initiative.

Cavalry Unit Grew Rapidly.

As troop "B", 1st separate squadron, the unit grew rapidly. So important did it become that when the national guard was reorganized on a new basis, it was placed in the 53rd cavalry brigade.

Fortification of U. S. Bases in Pacific Is Arms Meet Problem

Washington—The problems of the Pacific are likely to prove more difficult of solution at the present conference than the question of limitation of navies. Japan opposes the further fortification of Pacific islands by the United States. This government, on the other hand, contemplates powerful fortifications at various Pacific points.

Our naval experts have planned to develop the Hawaiian islands into a great central Pacific fleet operating base and to develop the island of Guam as a similar operating base for the eastern Pacific. Many millions of dollars must be appropriated by congress before these projects can be carried out.

Honolulu, capital of the Hawaiian islands, is 3,445 miles from Yokohama and about 4,500 miles from Manila. The Philippine islands, Guam, are 1,200 miles from Yokohama and 1,300 miles from Manila.

In recent years much thought has been given by United States naval experts, and a famous means of shipping men to Dutch Harbor, Alaska, as a great potential naval base and commercial port. It is not generally known that while the distance from San Francisco to Tokyo, Japan, by way of Honolulu is 5,500 miles, it is approximately 1,000 miles nearer by the northern route, via Dutch Harbor, which is situated on one of the islands of the Aleutian archipelago.

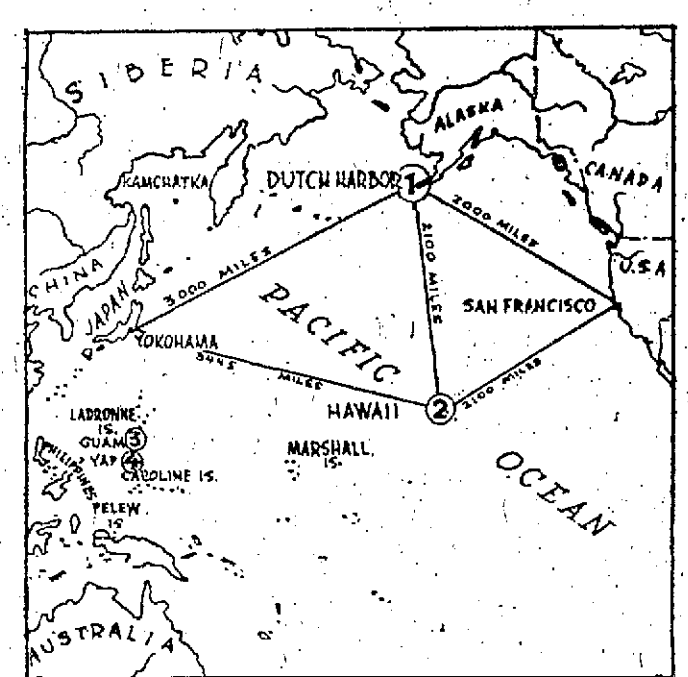

Harbor Never Freezes.

Although Dutch Harbor is as far north as Labrador, it does not freeze up during the winter, but is open all the year around. It is capable of development into a great fleet base and could be easily defended. It is 100 miles from Seattle and only slightly greater distance from Portland, Ore., and San Francisco. It lies only about 20 miles from the present regular route of ships going along the coast of the United States. It is only 700 miles from some of the Alaska coal fields, which are known to contain some of the very highest steamship quality. Only about 200 miles further, also on the Great Circle route, are other great Alaskan coal fields.

On account of these facts it is quite likely that the American people and the rest of the world will hear and read a great deal about Dutch Harbor in future years.

It is interesting and instructive to think of the naval position of the United States in the Pacific, and it is perhaps the views of British naval authorities that hold the most of interest. The British navy is the most powerful in the world. Its power is in the Pacific, having at present no adequate base for the grand fleet in those waters.

most British writers on naval and international subjects, an associate of the Institute of Naval Architects, has discussed the American naval position in the Pacific in great detail and with an array of facts and conclusions that has made a profound impression on the British mind. He is a recent book entitled "Sea Power in the Pacific." He says that the United States navy is seriously crippled in the Pacific for want of a great Northern strategic base. New Book Shows Ludendorff War like, Untaught by Defeat

Berlin.—If evidence were needed that General Ludendorff, who perhaps more than any other person shaped the policy of Germany during the war, had failed to learn humility or wisdom from defeat, it is found in his new book, "War and Politics," which has just been published. In this volume, Ludendorff's military and political views are set forth in a straightforward manner. It is the unchanged Ludendorff who writes.

"The word annihilation must not be taken literally. Armies can be annihilated only in the sense that the pre-war era could the entire force of a great military state be destroyed by one blow. The sum of defeats underlines an army's defeat, the will of the people is broken on one side becomes defensive, then it is what happened to us while we stood on enemy territory undefeated. The defeat of the army is not the defeat of the nation. It is the will of our enemies which have been broken."

Hitler's Political Mistake.

This note runs through the book.

William Seeman, William Sheridan, Herbert Markman and Glen Huebel, who are devoted to the cause of the book, are devoted to the cause of the book, are devoted to the cause of the book.

France Is Master.

"France is master in central Europe. It bases its might upon the strongest army in the world, and upon the fighting powers of the new states created in central Europe, chief of which are Poland and Czechoslovakia."

A recent photo of General Ludendorff (right) with Prince Eitel Friedrich, the former kaiser's second son, showing them clad in the uniforms of imperial Germany, which they wore during the war.

Czechoslovakia. It lies across the trade routes of England and constitutes, with central Europe at its back, and in conjunction with the United States, a far more formidable opponent for England than ever Germany could have been, even if France must reckon with the hostility of Italy.

The book closes with an appeal to the German people to recognize realities and to draw strength and faith from belief in themselves, in their nation and in the creative power of work.

After declaring that Germany had very likely brought about her own defeat by giving up, under pressure of the United States, the right to the U-boat war in 1918, Ludendorff analyzes President Wilson's policy and asserts that:

"The United States proved its will to the light of the following naked facts:

"The United States did not enter the war immediately after the beginning of the unrestricted U-boat war. American ships had been sunk in February, 1917, but only at the beginning of April. Had the U-boat war really been the cause of American entry, it would have followed immediately."

Reverses Brought U. S. in.

"The United States entered the war after the situation of the world had changed for the worse, owing to the outbreak of the revolution in Russia and the effects of the U-boat war."

"During the end of March Admiral Sims of the American navy was told by Admiral Jellicoe that England would not be able to stand the loss of tonnage beyond November. On April 2, Wilson declared war against Germany."

The book is history translated into terms of might, and the present disposition of power throughout the world reinforces its iron arguments. The present situation, Germany also gives color to Ludendorff's reasoning that the sword is alone the preservative of peace and liberty. A constant refrain runs through the book—harsh upon the great general considers the disease gnawing at the hearts and souls of the German people—the "international, pacifistic, defeatist idea." This crops up again and again. He even attempts to Germanize these "alien" words by translating them into such terms as "nationally disintegrating" and "nationally emasculating."

He strikes this note at the very beginning of his foreword:

"Before the war we Germans flattered ourselves that we were a masterly people, a nation of rulers. But we were anything but that. Our disposition to be citizens of the world prevented us from recognizing the psychology of the world, or at least from proclaiming with suf-

Shoemaker Suit Goes to Hands of Omaha Jury

Omaha.—The suit by F. E. Shoemaker of New London, Neb., against Hartington, Neb., residents, whom he charges with using tar and feathers on him after he had delivered a nonpartisan address, was in the hands of a jury in federal court Saturday. The case was given to the jury late Friday night.

Unions Ignore Court Summons

Kansas City, Mo.—Representatives of union knocking house workers in Kansas City, Mo., Saturday refused their decision to ignore summons issued by Kansas court of industrial relations, which convened there Thursday morning, to take up the threatened Rock county election called for Monday. None of the officials of the five locals of the Amalgamated Association of Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of America, who were summoned, appeared when C. L. Higgins, presiding judge, called their names.

Winter Halts Vienna Riots

Vienna.—The winter weather has served better than the police to restore order in Vienna after the serious rioting Thursday, when mobs pillaged hotels, stores and restaurants, and looted and burned. The city Friday was in the grip of a blizzard. Business was suspended.

As a result of the disorders a general exodus of profiteers and idlers is taking place, every out bound train being crowded.

A total of 174 stores were wrecked and looted. The reports show that many others were damaged and their show windows pillaged by the mobs.

BONDED LIQUOR IN HOME NO EVIDENCE OF GUILT—MORGAN

Madison.—Distilled bonded liquor found in a home cannot be used as evidence of illicit possession, says the Severson prohibition act, nor can it be held by prohibition officers, C. A. Ingram, district attorney at Durand, Wis., is advised by Attorney General Morgan in an opinion Saturday.

Possession of "privately manufactured distilled liquors," is, however, prohibited by the national prohibition act. He declares that, privately manufactured distilled liquor means in common parlance the possession of "moonshine."

Home-brewed liquor in the home, without proof of sale, does not constitute evidence of guilt, according to the attorney general.

FIRST MEETING OF RURAL TEACHERS IS DECLARED SUCCESS

Discussion of many topics tending toward betterment of the teaching profession was taken up at the first semester conference of 50 rural teachers of Rock county, at the Rock county Training school, Saturday. SUBMIT BRIEF IN RAIL RATE CASE

Orders Increasing Rates Illegal, Contention of North Dakota.

Washington.—Orders of the Interstate Commerce commission for general increases in freight rates held to be illegal, in a brief filed in the supreme court Saturday by the state of North Dakota, joining in the Wisconsin railroad rate case.

The North Dakota brief contends that the orders of the commission were illegal because the commission directed blanket increases which operated to deprive the states of power to regulate commerce within their borders. The commission, it was held to have assumed jurisdiction over state rates and to have increased them without examination of each rate involved.

The Wisconsin case, in which the brief was filed, challenges the control of the commission over passenger fares within states. North Dakota has pending a case which challenges the control of the commission over both passenger fares and freight rates and other charges.

Big Freighters Ground in Gale

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.—Efforts to release two steamers grounded in Lake Huron awaited abatement of the 50 miles per hour gale blowing from the northwest Saturday.

The steel steamer Myra, 410 feet long and 200 feet wide, was a crew of 20 aboard, is aground on Squaw Island, near Mackinac, and the steel freighter Philip Minch, with a crew of 22, which grounded on Hold Ridge point, was still aground Saturday morning. The Minch is reported out four feet forward. Her bottom is thought to be badly damaged by the rocky shore.

Thus, that left here to aid the two steamers were forced by the storm to remain at Detroit. The tug Favorite is standing in the lee of Hold Ridge and prepared to attempt removal of the Minch's crew should the vessel break up.

Four steamers are tied up at Detroit and 11 are in shelter behind White Fish Point.

BELOIT HOT AFTER MEN SELLING BOOZE TO COLLEGE STUDENTS

An investigation as to the furnishing of port wine on prescription to college students, which was being made by District Attorney S. G. Dunwiddie, Beloit this week and a number of college students were called in to be questioned.

It seems that one student imbibed a bit too freely of the drug-store wine. It made him decidedly ill, so much so, a physician was called, for it was the time the youth had been tempted.

This started an investigation and the hearing. The Beloit city council revoked the liquor license of one quick student. The student who was only waiting for a transcript of the testimony before taking action if arrested are warranted by the testimony of the student. The student apparently has no trouble in getting the wine.

GEIGER INSTRUCTS HERZOG JURYMEN

Milwaukee.—With a plea by H. A. Geiger, United States district attorney to convict Best P. Herzog and remove any suspicion which the public may have rich and powerful can violate the law with impunity, the jury in "Hill" follow always is punished, arguments to the jury in the Herzog case, ended at noon Saturday.

Federal Judge Geiger immediately began instructing the jury. It was expected that the verdict would be reached late in the afternoon.

WIVAN MINSTRELS SCORE SECOND HIT AT LAST SHOWING

Kilwin.—The annual and the second presentation of the minstrel show Friday night. There was the same snap and pep that characterized the opening on Thursday. The house, packed from 10 to 12 o'clock, was for more, generous with applause and took the impromptu and unscheduled acts which came into the playing with laughter and appreciation. Rex Jackson pulled the strings. When he started to sing some twenty of his friends in different parts of the house walked out. He took up the time with rapping the director, Rosa Harvey and finally was called and recalled in their own words. The club has secured a big success, with two jammed houses. Charles Douthett, who gave up his regular shows turned his whole force over to one for the Kilwin. Many were turned away Friday night. Even the gallery was full. Fifty seven Gazette news boys were called in to be questioned.

MAN QUESTIONS HIS WIFE'S ATTITUDE ON "FREEDOM" OF WOMEN

Angelina Welliver, Janesville, wanted her freedom. She believed in the rights of women, married or otherwise—but there is some dispute on just what constitutes the "freedom" of women. Her husband, Jesse Welliver, questions his wife's interpretation of freedom and rights in a divorce complaint filed for him by Attorney E. E. Johnson in the Rock county circuit court.

The complaint alleges that while his wife went away for a period of "freedom" in Freeport, letters came from her to him, telling of her feelings for him, and that she had been object to him, in the guise of his wife's desire for freedom. Besides, he didn't like to see her in ice cream parlors, and he didn't like to see her around railroad stations with other men, he alleges in the information.

A hearing on the case will probably be held in the circuit court before Judge Grimm next week.

Why Buick Valve-in-Head Motors Have More Power

Internal combustion motors are heat engines. The more heat retained in their cylinders, the more power they generate.

Water-jacketing space absorbs heat.

Buick Valve-in-Head motors have about 20% less water-jacketing space than the L Head type and about 15% less than the T Head type.

That is one of the reasons why Buick Valve-in-Head motors have more power.

Leaky Spark-Plug Cores

Porcelain Of Improved Qualities Is Much To Be Desired

IT IS A COMMON BELIEF that the core insulation of a spark-plug is serviceable until it becomes broken, but this is not a fact, for it is often found that the porcelain of plugs that have been in strenuous service for some time, while intact mechanically speaking, are defective electrically and permit a leakage of the ignition current, which by seriously lowering the voltage, reduces the energy in the sparks and the effectiveness of the explosions produced. This electrical leakage is probably an important factor in aggravating starting difficulties, when weak fuel mixtures usually prevail and an energetic spark is especially necessary. Just what causes plug cores to leak current is not fully understood, but it is known that most grades of porcelain lose their insulating qualities when sufficiently heated, that expansion and contraction, under temperature changes, seem to break down the structure of the material and that in case carbon particles penetrate the glaze and enter the porcelain, it becomes conductive and leaky. The short life of spark-plugs in aviation and racing engines brings out very strikingly their shortcomings, which are evident in motor car practice in a much less acute way. It is likely that many obscure starting and operative difficulties could be traced to defective plug insulation and when such difficulties arise it is often wise to replace the plugs and thus eliminate one possible source of trouble.

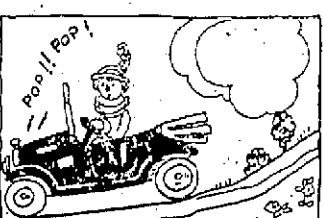

STARTER GEARS DON'T UNMESH

W. B. writes: Once in a while, the screw pinion of my automatic starter drive fails to unmesh from the flywheel gear and I have to force them out of engagement by hand. What is the cause and remedy of this?

Answer: The trouble generally is that the starting motor has moved slightly on its mounting, enough to impair the alignment of the pinion and gear, with the result that they go into engagement so that the teeth jam or cramp. The starter motor shaft and the crankshaft should be parallel and there should be no bottoming of the teeth when they go into mesh.

CAUSE OF BACKFIRING

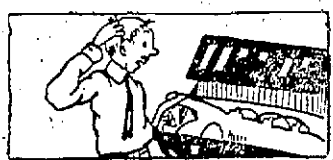

W. B. asks: Why does my engine backfire into the carburetor, when it is first started and also when I begin to give it gas after coasting down a long hill? Is it because the carburetor feeds too much gas?

Answer: Your carburetor is of the compound-jet type and is adjustable except for idling speeds. Unless you are using the hot air supply for the carburetor, this is the probable cause of your trouble.

Questions of general interest to the motorist will be answered by Mr. Clough in this column, space permitting. If an immediate answer is desired, enclose self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dirt collected in the small passages within the carburetor or a too lean adjustment of the idling regulation screw may also account for the difficulty. When very heavy fuel is used, it sometimes becomes necessary to install a larger main jet in this carburetor. From what you say it appears that too little, rather than too much gasoline is being fed, or that there is not enough heat to do the vaporizing.

WHY INTAKE VALVES ARE CLOSED LATE

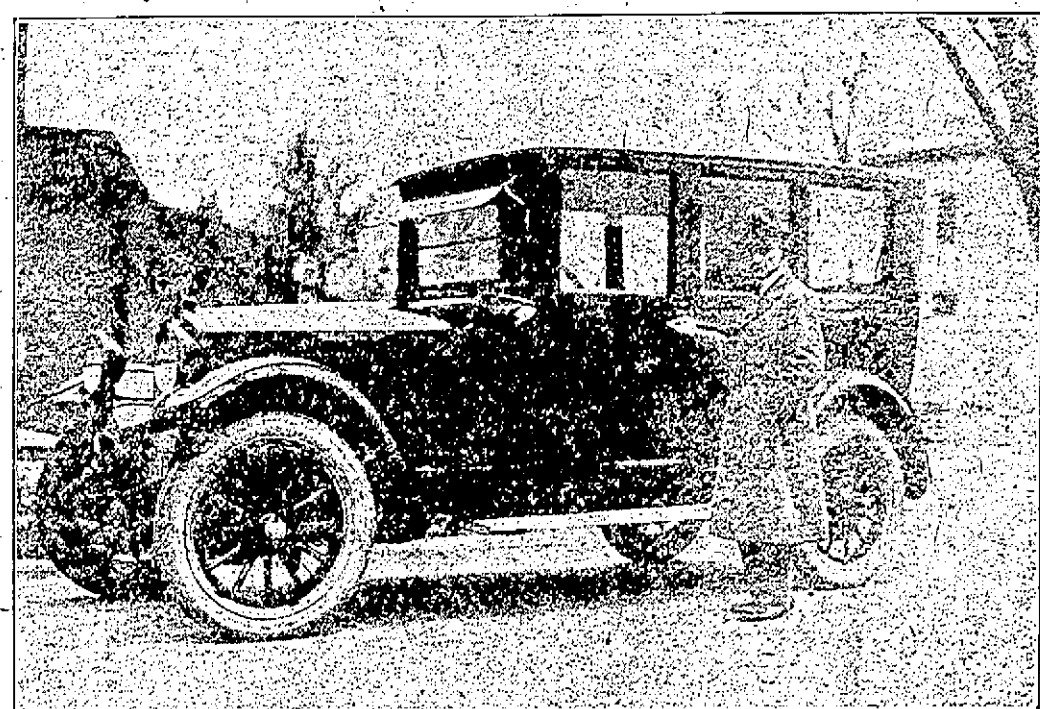

C. H. T. asks: Why is it that on most auto engines, the inlet valve is timed to remain open 20 degrees or more after the piston has reached lower dead center? It seems to me that the suction must stop even before bottom dead center, as piston speed is greatly reduced as this point is being reached.

Answer: It is true that suction becomes very slight before lower center is attained and very shortly after this point, the tendency is for the piston to push out the charge that has entered, but this latter tendency is more than counteracted, especially at high speeds, by the momentum of the column of rapidly moving gas in the manifold and intake pipe. Under the influence of suction, this gas has become speeded up to a very high velocity and, like every other moving body, its inertia prevents it from slowing down instantly, with the result that it continues to move and crowd into the cylinder for some time after bottom center has been reached and even after the compression stroke has commenced. This action is very effective in giving the cylinders full charges and thus the intake valve is held open as long as it can be made use of.
